2022 FEE-HELP INFORMATION

Comparing courses and choosing what and where to study is an important decision for your future.

In Australia, there are universities and private higher education providers where you can study a degree. Courses and costs can vary a lot.

If you are still deciding what to study, you can search for undergraduate courses on:

- www.CourseSeeker.edu.au and check if a course you are interested in is offered as a Commonwealth supported place (CSP) as well as compare costs, course delivery and location. A CSP will always be cheaper than a fee-paying place in the same course
- www.ComparED.edu.au to compare the job prospects and starting salary of other students who studied in the study area you're interested in.

Cost of a course

The cost of a full fee-paying place can vary greatly across courses and providers, as providers set their own fees. A course that is approved for FEE-HELP does not mean that the cost of the course is approved or limited by the Australian Government. There is no guarantee that the cost of a course will be under the HELP loan limit.

It is a student's responsibility to find out the cost of the course they're signing for.

FEE-HELP

FEE-HELP is a loan from the Australian Government for eligible higher education students to pay tuition fees. You cannot use it for accommodation, laptops, or textbooks.

To be eligible for FEE-HELP, you must:

- be an Australian who studies some of their course while living in Australia
OR be an eligible New Zealand Special Category Visa \(SCV\) holder and will live in Australia for the entire course.

OR be a permanent humanitarian visa holder (or eligible former) and will live in Australia for the entire course.

OR be a permanent resident who is undertaking approved bridging studies and will live in Australia for the study.
- undertake an approved course, at a FEE-HELP approved provider
- enrol and submit the FEE-HELP form (known as an eCAF) by the census date
- have a tax file number (TFN) or have applied for one – you can start your application now at www.ato.gov.au/TFN.

How do I apply for a FEE-HELP loan?

You must submit the FEE-HELP eCAF to your provider by the census date. You can only get an eCAF from your provider once you have accepted your offer in the course. You will need to include your TFN, USI and personal details on the eCAF and read the 2022 FEE-HELP information booklet.

What if I change my mind?

Similar to a cooling off period there is a period of time where you can cancel your enrolment but won't be charged any fees. You have until the census date to decide if you want to continue in the course and commit to paying for it.

If you change your mind about the course, you must cancel your enrolment by following your provider's withdrawal instructions before the census date so you don't get charged the fees.

The census date is also the last day you can apply for FEE-HELP, otherwise you will be required to pay the amount upfront.

Loan limits, fees and repayment

There is a limit to how much HELP you can borrow. For most students the HELP loan limit is $109,206 (there is a higher limit for some approved courses e.g. medicine).

If you have studied before, you can check your available HELP balance at www.myHELPbalance.gov.au.

There is a 20 per cent FEE-HELP loan fee applied to some undergraduate study.

You start repaying your HELP debt through the Australian tax system once you earn above the compulsory repayment threshold, which is $47,014 in 2021-22.

THIS IS HOW IT WORKS:

Step 1

Search and compare courses using Course Seeker and ComparED

Step 2

Know your course cost and check your available HELP balance at myHELPbalance

Step 3

If eligible, apply for FEE-HELP by the census date

Step 4

Start repaying your HELP debt when you earn above the threshold
